Ancient Science

Judge Daly, in his recent annual address before the American Geographical Society, said, "Fresh discoveries of the cuneiform inscriptions at Nineveh have revealed the fact that the ancient Assyrians were acquainted with the existence of spots on the sun, which they could only have known by the aid of telescopes. These it is supposed they possessed. Mr. Layard found a crystalline lens in the ruins of Nineveh. The Assyrian Cyclopedia, imprinted on bricks, was an exhaustive work. The inscriptions pedia, imprinted on bricks, was an exhaustive work. The inscriptions on these bricks, on being deciphered, disclosed that houses and lands were sold, leased and mortgaged, that money was loaned at interest, and that the market gardeners, to use an American phrase, 'worked on shares;' that the farmer, when ploughing with his oxen, beguiled his labor with shor; and homely songs, two of which hive been interests, and street shorts and homely songs, two of which hive been interests, and street shorts above the same premises to shorts and homely songs, two of which hive been interests, and street for said said street for said said said said are used in common shoes we have Ladges' Button Boots in Glazed and Pebble Morocco, at $1, 25, 50, 50, 51, 75 and $2.
